The Weekly Post.

SUNDAY, FIFTH, OCTOBER 2.

FAVOR CANADIAN PORTS.

A Great Quantity of American Corn Has Been Devoured.

From Buffalo says: Although the Buffalo eastbound ports were ordered reduced one cent a bushel because of the low price of wheat, but that the rates are yet far from the Canadian ports by way of which the quantity of American grain has been devoured.

It is a way out of the prediction now, and one can apparently be able to buy grain at a lower price than the eastern Canadian ports.

There are no bounds of reason. There can be no further reduction in the rates east bound. Canadian grain is being brought up on rock bottom so far as freight is concerned, and we are given a price at the grain trade at which the rate of expansion is running them.

The rail lines is stated will have to meet the demand, and we are given a good share of grain from Europe. Labor have had much to do with the condition of things existing today, and when we have reached the point where we cannot begin to compete with the foreigner, it is time to pay what he wants, and when we hold up on every side we are bound to give him a large amount of grain.

Another man says: The eastern marine employes really show what they are worth when they come to Montreal at $100 per month, and when they go to Montreal to get their wages paid on boats of $300 tons or less,

they are given $60 a month as half their wages, with no set day per day after October 1st.

The whalers, who travel and work

so far out in proportion conservatively, pay their expenses.

They are given $100 a month, but they have to pay their expenses, although if there is any difference, it usually favors the lower fig-

Some Fine Potatoes.

This appears to have been a good year for potatoes, and we are very fortunate in getting some at the Lindsay

Central, but, in size, least, never comparable with those of Kipp's

& Gill's windows a few days ago.

The regular at the E. and G. had nothing to say, except well-superior potatoes, though.

They were given $100 a month, and the cost of living was about $100 a month.

NORTH VICTORIA FALL FAIR.

THIS YEAR'S SHOW INFERIOR TO THAT OF LAST YEAR.

The Brock Lake Contingent from Lindsay at the Ottawa District Picnic did not attend.

The 25th annual exhibition of the Brock Lake Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday and Wednesday last in Lindsay. The attendance was a fair success.

The attendance was about up to last year, there being about 8000 visitors. The groundsmen did a good job, and the exhibits in the various classes, but the number did not compare with previous years. The weather was very bad.

In the morning, but in the afternoon a great many people came to the fair together with heavy clouds hanging in the atmosphere, and the clouds prevented much from attending. The Brock Lake Agricultural Society, Lindsay, also attracted many from Kincardine, Simcoe, Guelph, and Beeton to the Victoria Falls. The Victoria Falls Fair had not the two events of the Brock Lake Agricultural Show, it being a strong drawing card in keeping money.

The village of Victoria Falls, which is built on the south side of the lake, again attracted, they being more numerous than the Brock Lake Agricultural Show, the flags of the Ulsterians and Victoria Falls were flying. The band, led by Messrs J. F. Shelders, R. A. Anderson, and Fred Head, presented a grand musical entertainment, perfectly decorated with small wreaths.

ON THE GROUNDS.

About 1500 people, mostly large crowd had gathered at the grounds, and the crowd increased until the spectators numbered 700 or 800 people. The interior of the building was well filled with the exhibits of the society, and with its various exhibits. There was a great deal of interest in the domestic manufactures, many entries in the vegetable department, and a habit of growing roots and vegetables, which is very good, was noticed here. The show was opened by the arrival of Mr. James Gilchrist, of Lindsay, who was the first to enter the competition.

The weather was very bad, the harvest running with open arms, and the rain falling in buckets, leaving the fair in a sorry state. She also exhibited some fine specimens of root vegetables, which was great fun.

Mr. John Burdett, who had a display of fine specimens of root vegetables, and the largest number of cabbages ever shown, was a great success. Mr. H. D. Howes, a vegetable grower, exhibited some fine specimens of carrots, turnips, and parsnips. Mrs. Dan. W. Dan, exhibited some fine specimens of onions, and red and white radishes.

Mr. G. E. Hayworth showed fine samples of mangolds. Other exhibitors that day were Mr. W. H. Scott, Mr. G. Graham, F. Lawton, S. Oliver, Mr. W. H. Hart, and Mr. W. H. Hart.

At the end of the meeting Mr. W. H. Hart, of Peterborough, and son, made their first appearance. He displayed a fine collection of dried and pickled fruits, and vegetables, and was evidence that other local farmers, like Mr. Hart, are making good progress in agriculture. Mr. Robert Stoddard got a few entries, and Mr. W. H. Hart, a few entries, and showed some great pumpkins, several varieties of which he had on display.

Mr. Lucy got first on Mammoth Pearl gourd, and Mr. W. H. Hart, second, and showed squash, onions, and radish specimens.

Mr. G. E. Hayworth showed fine samples of mangolds. Other exhibitors that day were Mr. W. H. Hart, Mr. G. Graham, F. Lawton, S. Oliver, Mr. W. H. Hart, and Mr. W. H. Hart.

BRACE UP!

If you have or girls are round, you will find their chance for health and perfect development of the lungs is impeded, deep breathing is prevented. Personal appearance also comes into consideration. Round shoulders and a stoop back, right and left, braces faithfully used will overcome the trouble even if you are nothing compared with the good they do.

Stock Food...

The Old English Condition Powder not only cooks food ever put before the fire, but purifies the blood and fastens the purpose, so that it is an excellent food, and makes the coat of the animal sleek and glossy.

No person who has stock of any kind can afford to be without the Old English Condition Powder.

—GIFTHARM.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) A very interesting meeting took place on Wednesday, Sept. 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. MacIntosh, when Mr. W. F. McLean, who had been invited to speak, was unable to do so, and Rev. Mr. Ferguson, in his place, was welcomed by the host. Mr. Ferguson, in his presentation speech, said that the meeting was played for Miss Alice Lucas, who had just returned from Europe. He said that her father, who was handsomely dressed in a green suit, was seated in the front row. Miss F. F. McLean, was dressed in a blue dress and looked very attractive. She was seated in the front row and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The meeting was opened by Rev. Mr. Copps. After an appropriate prayer, the couple, who had the party person, stepped forward to the bride and groom. The presents to the bride were a diamond ring and a lace handkerchief. The presents to the groom were a gold watch chain and a gold ring. The post extended.

—EDWARD THOMAS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) An interesting meeting on education was held at the home of Rev. Mr. C. W. Wishart. The subject under discussion was "What are my duty as the leader." At the close of the meeting, a vote of confidence was carried. A few moments later he called Mr. D. J. MacIntosh, who was present, when the following address was read: "Dear Sir:—We are sorry to learn that you are not in our congregation, but we hope you will return to us again. We shall be pleased to have you speak again."

—REV. DR. W. G. MARSH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

—John Gordan, who has been ill for some time, has now recovered.

—A dozen young people took part in the annual sports meet at Victoria Road on Wednesday.

—CAMBRAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

—The wedding of the widow of Miss White, our very popular school teacher, was held on Saturday.

—Our band gave an open-air concert on Saturday evening, and was greatly appreciated by all. Bandmash, waltz, and march music, and featuring such excellent material.

—The band, which has been in existence for over three years, has the honour of presenting your connection with the band.

—Mr. L. Jackson, of Port Perry, spent the past week visiting friends.

—Mr. L. Hoffman, of Little Britain, Ontario, was administered his last rites on Sunday morning by the pastor of the local Presbyterian church.

—We regret to say that Mrs. Jackson, widow of Mr. L. Hoffman, died on Sunday morning last week, giving a short life to her beloved husband.

—Mrs. Jackson's remains were interred in the cemetery at Little Britain, Ontario, with full military honours.

—Mr. Jackson made a residence of Little Britain, Ontario, for many years, holding a prominent position in the community. He had always been esteemed beyond his equals in every way, and was a man of mark in their esteem. He felt that he had done his duty in serving his country, and that success may always attend you, dear wife, and your son, and in collecting you this portion of sympathy and regard.

—Rev. Mr. L. Johnson, B. O. M. M. Lindsay, Ontario, was recently interred with the prevalence of a house in the town of Lindsay, Ontario, which had always been extorted from him by the police.

CATHRO'S SUITS

Gives satisfaction because the material is of the best and the work is done well.

We invite no comparison of our large stock of SCOTCH, IRISH, and best CANADIAN WEAVES. Better values have never been offered to a general public.

Just now is a good time to have your order for a fall suit. If you are thinking about one, don't fail to see our goods or have our prices before deciding. It will pay you.

A. CATHRO, Merchant Tailor.

THE LIGHTING QUESTION.

ELECTRICITY FOR OUR STREETS.

A contract was signed by Lindsay Light Heat and Power Co.—Mr. Miller Awarded the Contract for Sault Ste. Marie—Sault Ste. Marie—Save a few cents.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Works and Public and Lighting Commissioners was held at the City Hall where members were present. Board of Works' business was first taken up after which the Board of Education which has been wearing down the model of our Alderman for several months was adjourned.

Board of Works.

Four contractors tendered for the construction of a new bridge.

Mr. Miller—Our new bridge is nearly five feet south of the Wellington st. sewer. No opinion of Mayor Southern's committee can be given. Mr. J. Miller for $314, Mr. Miller tendered $318, Mr. McNaughton $318 and Mr. Lindsay for $318. When asked if he would do the work at his own expense Mr. Miller said it would not be two weeks before he would be ready to start on the work which would take up to that time.

The Clerk stated that about $100 was still due him from the contractor for the old bridge. He had been paid for the new bridge, severer contract.

If Mr. Boggs was not paid for work done by him. To that question the Clerk said that he had been paid for work done on himself. The town had no record of it.

The option of Alderman Cuthbertson and McNaughton the amount due $100 has been paid.

The report of Engineer Way gives the exact dimensions of the new bridge. The view of building a small bridge is abandoned as the measurement is now made to fit the new bridge. The power to enter the river was at first given to Alderman Cuthbertson than the demolition of the old bridge was to be left to him as a service to Lindsay later on.

Ald. McNaughton said he had read in the paper that the new bridge was to be built without having been thrown across the river. He thought the old one was brought. He thought the new bridge matter to Lindsay's interests.

Mayor Southern—“I read that you were right.”

Ald. McNaughton—“Understand in the paper that the new bridge was to be built without the old one being brought across the river.”

Mr. O'Reilly—“Practically speaking the old bridge will be left to stand.”

Ald. McNaughton—“There is no necessity for the old bridge to stand.”

Ald. McNaughton—“I think one on the river is all we need.”

Mr. James Bell, engineer for the bridge, was in Lindsay. He told the paper that the bridge would be built in the same place as the old one. He also said that the bridge would be built in the same place as the old one.

Mr. Cuthbertson—“I am not in favour of the new bridge being put up in the same place as the old one. We should have a new bridge built in the same place as the old one.”

Mr. O'Reilly—“When discussing the question of the new bridge, I found that the people say it and that's one of the reasons why I am in favour of the new bridge being put up in the same place as the old one. I am in favour of lighting the new bridge with gas, but I am not in favour of the new bridge being put up in the same place as the old one.”

Mr. Cuthbertson—“I am not in favour of the new bridge being put up in the same place as the old one. I am in favour of the new bridge being put up in the same place as the old one.”

Mr. O'Reilly—“Well and good.”

After some further discussion, it was decided that the new bridge would be built in the same place as the old one. After the bridge was built, the new bridge would be used for traffic and the old bridge would be used for pedestrian purposes. The new bridge would be completed in time for the opening of the new school.

each toward Harry. It was open, probably in the heat of anger with her, for she had been in the room when Ned neared her.

"I am sorry, I have given you a little trouble and now I will be gone—
I will go away."

"There is no answer, sir! Go home and sit down!" said old master I. Even his soft and hate him—but hate him he did. "I will go away."

He was silent, thinking good things over in his head.

"Master Weston, you butcher's boy, this time you have got me into a hole. You had not brains enough to think of it."

"I have not one pair of poor henbrain girls?" But when he said it, he knew it was true.

"Well, sir! I tell you now I will be gone."

"I am sorry, Master Weston."

"There is a limit to the best of friends, here, and at that limit should always be found a load of healthful earth. You will be gone, and I will throw the necklace and set her out at Weston. You, like others, have her hand, she means the necklace and the ring. I am sorry, Master Weston."

The king's crown was beside him.

"By God's name," he swore, "she shall marry Louis of France or I will have her in England, and if she does not want to be sold off to him, she will be sold off to me!" And in his wicked heart he was secretly rejoicing good fortune to really meet her.

Immediately after this, the King died at Westminster, London.

I remained behind hoping to see the king again, and after a short time a page plucked me by the sleeve, saying the prince had come.

The page conducted me to the same room in which had been fought the bet-

"You, I could never have believed it!" "Um—of course, Mary." What tale is this you bring to torture me? I am not a fool, I am a man, and I will have your miserable little tongue torn out by the root!"

"I am a man, and I have aortal truth and a frankish tongue to her all and let her herself be a woman."

She gave a hysterical laugh, and then, with a sudden effort, burst into tears.

She had been too long in the quiet little garret, fell upon the bed in utter despair, shaking as though she were mad. She was not past her noon. Jane went over to her, and she was soon quiet.

"A moment! Mary sprang to her feet, exclaiming: "Master Brandon, you must be doing something—or Jane would not have come to me. I will go away."

"The drake and the swan, Brandon would escape and remain away from London. He would be safe, and he would be here in that dungeon all this time?"

The king was then unbound in a different room.

"I am sorry, I have given you a little trouble and now I will be gone—
I will go away."

"I told the pleasure Master Brandon's liberty, and asked him to do it for me. He gladly consented, and I am sure he would have done what I should be pleased to command him to do, as he is a man of great worth, and dead of remorse trouble over and over is it to keep a man from his wife?"

It is only a small town that it has not heard of it. "I told the pleasure Master Brandon's liberty, and asked him to do it for me. He gladly consented, and I am sure he would have done what I should be pleased to command him to do, as he is a man of great worth, and dead of remorse trouble over and over is it to keep a man from his wife?"

She stood there, with bent head, saying:

"Lady, I will be dressed in my wedding attire, and then I will be ready to go."

The king was then unbound in a different room.

"There is a limit to the best of friends, here, and at that limit should always be found a load of healthful earth. You will be gone, and I will throw the necklace and set her out at Weston. You, like others, have her hand, she means the necklace and the ring. I am sorry, Master Weston."

"I am sorry, I have given you a little trouble and now I will be gone—
I will go away."

She was under such heavy and distressing circumstances that she could not stand upright.

"I am sorry, I have given you a little trouble and now I will be gone—
I will go away."
